

2019/2020 Florida PTA Action Platform – Current Position Statements

Position Statements Created by Florida PTA

ARTS IN EDUCATION ESSENTIAL CURRICULA (2004) (2014) The Florida PTA recommends every school district place greater emphasis on arts education and increase opportunities for student participation in the arts incorporating the Florida Sunshine Standard approved by the State Board of Education. The Florida PTA urges that unless a teacher has specialized skills in the arts or is a recognized professional in their arts specialty, the arts be taught by teachers certified in their field specific arts subject area and be aligned with the National Standards (No Child Left Behind) and the Sunshine State Standards. The Florida PTA urges the State Legislature to include and fully fund Arts instruction without cutting funding from existing programs as part of the PreK - 12 curriculum at all schools.

CAPITAL OUTLAY FUNDING (1991) (2012) The Florida PTA encourages the Legislature to develop a comprehensive, long range plan for funding the capital outlay needs of education (1985). The Florida PTA believes that the needs of traditional public school districts should be the first priority of PECO funding.

CAREER AND TECHNICAL EDUCATION (2019) The Florida PTA provides information to its members and others with respect to the benefits of career and technical education for students at all levels of academic achievement, as well as for the general public. In addition, the Florida PTA urges the Florida Legislature and the United States Congress to increase funding for career and technical education programs, including registered apprenticeship and pre-apprenticeship programs, to provide for appropriate market-driven compensation for career and technical education instructors, flexibility in the expansion of career and technical education pathways, and recruitment of a diverse population of program enrollees so that all of Florida's residents will have the opportunity to access, fully participate in, and contribute to the state's economic prosperity.

CASINO GAMBLING (1981) (2012) Florida PTA believes that the intrusion of casino gambling into the community would not benefit children and youth. Claims of the monetary benefits to education to be derived from proceeds of casino gambling are not factually substantiated. Florida PTA opposed the legalization of casino gambling in Florida at their 1978 convention and continues to do so.

CHARTER SCHOOLS (1996) (2012) The Florida PTA urges the Legislature to ensure that any legislative proposals regarding publicly funded Charter Schools include the following specific criteria:

- Charter schools must not be operated for profit nor be affiliated with private, religious, or home schools.
- Charter schools must be open to all students regardless of race, sex, religion, physical, mental, emotional or learning exceptionalities.
- Charter schools must provide transportation as required by Chapter 234 Florida Statutes.
- Charter schools must be subject to all state and federal health, safety, and antidiscrimination laws and be subject to the Florida Public Records Act (Chapter 119, FS).
- Charter schools must fall under the authority of, and be accountable to, the local school board.
- Charter school teachers must be state certified.
- Charter school plans must provide for the maximum involvement of parents/guardians and provide clear information to all parents/guardians through public hearings.

- Charter schools must continue the educational philosophies of School Improvement under Blueprint 2000.

CHILDREN'S MENTAL HEALTH (1992) (2012) The Florida PTA urges the Legislature to fully fund a statewide comprehensive system of children's substance abuse and mental health services that must include:

- Prevention programs which serve children from birth to preschool, in preschool programs and earlier;
- In-school student assistance programs to provide short-term intervention;
- Access to individual, family and group counseling in convenient settings and times;
- Intensive home-based services which address the needs of families in their natural environment; and

CLASS SIZE REDUCTION (1994) (2012) The Florida PTA urges the Legislature to phase in maximum class size standards lower than those mandated by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) by the year 1999 and to establish class size standards for Exceptional Student Education classes; and The Florida PTA urges the Legislature to fully fund the capital, personnel and operational cost necessary to decrease or maintain class sizes under these levels. National PTA supports class size reduction proposals that consider actual class size (meaning the number of students in a teacher's room for whom that teacher is accountable) rather than pupil/teacher ratios, which do not accurately reflect teacher contacts with children. National PTA recognizes that class size reduction efforts will require a significant financial commitment for recruiting, hiring, and training qualified teachers, and increased school facilities. However, this investment will be offset in the long term by the money saved when the economic and social costs associated with grade retention and dropping out of school are reduced. National PTA supports parents, school administrators and faculty, community members, and government officials working together to assure that research-based, successful education practices to reduce class size are replicated in their communities until all public schools in the country are effective schools.

CLINIC ATTENDANTS (1991) (2012) The Florida PTA supports the full funding, through public funds of a paid, trained clinic attendant or health aide in each public elementary school during student hours.

EARLY CHILDHOOD EDUCATION: Readiness to Start School (1998) (2012) The Florida PTA urges the Legislature to ensure that early child care and education programs are safe, nurturing, and developmentally appropriate by establishing licensing requirements based on statewide standards that reflect current research. These programs should be affordable, available, and accessible with assistance for parents with inadequate income. The Florida PTA opposes using a standardized testing tool as the basis for major decisions regarding early childhood placement or progress, or to deny entry to public education. The Florida PTA urges its PTAs and county councils to work within their communities to make available to parents the materials, resources, and education needed to foster optimal early childhood development.

EDUCATION FUNDING AWARENESS (1996) (2012) The Florida PTA directs its Board of Directors to provide information and training to its PTAs and County Councils on the history, the current status, and processes surrounding education funding. Florida PTA and its constituent associations support schools in implementing best practices in meeting the needs of students with dyslexia, dysgraphia, dyscalculia and other Specific Learning Disabilities (SLD) through practices such as early Resolved, intervention and differentiated instruction and to encourage accommodations and needed assistive technology through 504 Plans and Individual Education Plans (IEPs) in all learning environments. Florida PTA recognizes that Specific Learning Disabilities (SLD) have significant educational implications and encourage local and state education agencies and institutions of higher education to require pre-service and on-going post-service training on dyslexia, dysgraphia, dyscalculia and other Specific Learning Disabilities (SLD), the warning signs of dyslexia and appropriate instructional approaches as well as the use of early screening for dyslexia and successful approaches to communicating with parents.

Florida PTA also urges the necessary resources and supports be provided to ensure students have access to the proactive continuum of mental health services and they be incorporated with a strong family engagement component.
PARENTAL CHOICE OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS (1993) (2012) Florida PTA urges the Legislature to provide state funds only to publicly operated and tax supported schools, thus preserving the concept of public education. Any proposal for parental choice must provide funding for transportation, be based on equal access and equal educational opportunities for all students, provide clear information to all parents, and provide increased opportunity for parental involvement in the education of their children.

In addition, Florida PTA urges school officials to exercise sound discretion, that is consistent with principles of due process, and considers the individual student and the particular circumstances of misconduct, and urges the state and school districts to adopt policies and procedures that enable such due process. Florida PTA also supports the development of prevention programs and alternatives to suspension, expulsion or referral that will improve student behavior and school climate without making schools dangerous.

REGISTERED NURSES FOR SCHOOLS (2001) (2012) The Florida PTA encourages and supports complete funding to supply a registered professional nurse to every one of the 2.8 million Florida public school students, a trained school health aide in every Florida public school, and to include future allocation formulas to increase nursing staff to keep pace with student enrollment.

ASSESSMENTS (2016) National PTA believes that high-quality assessments provide valuable information to parents, teachers and school leaders about the growth and achievement of their students. Assessment is a process of gathering information to guide educational decisions. A test is one tool that can be used in a comprehensive assessment system to evaluate and assess student growth and learning. National PTA also believes that neither one test, nor a single data point should ever be the sole determinant of a student's academic or work future, such as graduation, admission, retention or tracking.

- State-determined accountability systems provide for multiple measures of student growth and achievement.
- States develop a strategic assessment system to eliminate unnecessary exams, in consultation with district leaders, educators and parents that is aligned with academic standards and supports college and career readiness.
- States obtain the necessary resources and have appropriate policies and procedures in place to develop, validate and implement high-quality assessments with fidelity.

- States and districts annually evaluate and review assessment systems to certify it accurately and fairly measures student achievement towards college and career standards and provides valuable data to parents, teachers and school leaders.
